

NCPower Cloud

Editorial and production system straight from the socket

Information technology has reached a new phase of supply thanks to various developments: Hardware can be virtualized, applications are being delivered in a highly service-oriented way, infrastructure is available on an ever-growing bandwidth. This enables users to operate their IT “on demand” – independent of locations.

NCPower now enables users to configure their expenses and services for IT on a transparent and demand-oriented basis.

To benefit from the advantages NCPower offers you don't necessarily have to buy the system - simply rent it!
